

Operations Analyst & Intern – Opportunity

A LITTLE BIT ABOUT US

We are the first dedicated technology lender in Brazil. We are bringing a new model to the Brazilian market that allows start-ups and more established technology companies to raise money without diluting their shareholders – including founders. We are currently expanding our operations, while simultaneously raising funds with national and foreign investors.

WHAT WE NEED

An analyst and/or an intern to support our investment team on the operations side as soon as possible. Our environment is fast paced with lots of potential deals in the pipeline. Our investment team is highly entrepreneurial and autonomous, and we love to get things done, especially when it comes to closing deals.

WHAT YOU'LL BE DOING

Leading deals onboarding process end to end – from getting the lead from our investment department and leading the whole internal process to disburse our credit line to the client. Due to that, we need engineers to build flow structures with standard process in order to increase our efficiency. Further, support our founders and managers in day-to-day tasks such as optimizing internal processes and anything else that comes with scaling up a start-up.
